Parental Agreement for School / Setting to Administer Medicine

In general, medicines must not be brought into school. However, if a pupil has a medical condition that requires regular medication during the school day, then arrangements for administration must be made with the Headmistress and this form must be completed. Many children will need to take medicines during the day at some time during their time at school or setting. This will usually be for a short period only, perhaps to finish a course of antibiotics or to apply a lotion. To allow children to do this will minimise the time that they need to be absent. However, such medicines should only be taken to school where it would be detrimental to a child's health if it were not administered during the school day. Once again, this form must be completed and submitted to the Headmistress.

The storage and administering of any non-prescribed medicines including analgesic medicines (Paracetamol, Calpol etc.) is against the law. This is a directive from the Cyprus Ministry of Labour.

Long-Term Medical Needs

It is important to have sufficient information about the medical condition of any child with long-term medical needs. If a child's medical needs are inadequately supported this may have a significant impact on a child's experiences and the way they function in or out of school or a setting. The impact may be direct in that the condition may affect cognitive or physical abilities, behaviour or emotional state.

Some medicines may also affect learning leading to poor concentration or difficulties in remembering. The impact could also be indirect; perhaps disrupting access to education through unwanted effects of treatments or through the psychological effects that serious or chronic illness or disability may have on a child and their family.

It is the child's educational needs rather than a medical diagnosis that must be considered.

The school needs to know about any particular needs before a child is admitted, or when a child first develops a medical need. For children who attend hospital appointments on a regular basis, special arrangements may also be necessary. It is often helpful to develop a written health care plan for such children, involving the parents and relevant health professionals.

This can include:

- Details of a child's condition
- special requirements e.g. dietary needs, pre-activity precautions
- any side effects of the medicines
- what constitutes an emergency
- what action to take in an emergency
- what not to do in the event of an emergency
- who to contact in an emergency
- the role the staff can play
